

UConn CAMPUS VISITOR ACCESS GUIDELINES

The University of Connecticut is a public institution and does not normally limit visitor access to the public areas of its grounds and non-residential public buildings. However, in support of efforts to protect health and safety during the COVID-19 pandemic, access to campus was limited to authorized students, employees, and others pre-approved with a defined need to be on campus.

Based upon current federal, state, and local COVID-19 guidance many of the precautionary measures employed during the last year have been relaxed or lifted. UConn will continue to monitor COVID-19 guidance and mitigate the risk through sound protocols and prevention efforts. The below visitor access guidance applies to all campuses, except UConn Health. This guidance is current as of 6 August 2021 and is subject to change.

GENERAL GUIDANCE

All visitors should follow University safety precautions and guidelines:

- Monitor your health daily.
- Cover your mouth and nose with a CDC-recommended face covering:
 - Indoors – required for all.
 - Outdoors – recommended.
 - The wearing of masks is always supported by the UConn community.
- For their own protection, unvaccinated individuals should maintain 6 feet distancing from others.
- Wash hands often.
- Cover coughs and sneezes.
- Clean and disinfect frequently touched items/surfaces.
- Eating and drinking - Individuals should maintain 6 feet distancing from others when eating or drinking indoors.
 - *Events where food will be served should plan to allow for safe distancing, as appropriate.

ACADEMIC AND RESEARCH PURPOSES

Collaborating scientists, staff, and students are allowed to visit campus for academic and research activities with approval of their Dean or designee. These individuals must follow all federal, state, and University requirements for faculty, staff, and students that are in place at the time they visit campus. Since these requirements evolve as the COVID-19 situation changes, these individuals should adapt plans to accommodate and meet these requirements if changes develop. This includes the potential that the University may further restrict or prohibit any outside collaborators from being on campus; in such a case, the activity may need to be canceled on short notice, up to and including the day it is planned. The University is not responsible for any costs or financial considerations if the activity must be canceled or rescheduled due to COVID-19 related concerns.

USE OF UNIVERSITY FACILITIES AND RESOURCES BY THIRD PARTIES

UConn is a public institution and as such normally permits use of its grounds or public buildings by third parties. During the Coronavirus/COVID-19 pandemic and the declared Public Health Emergency, UConn limited the use of its campus facilities and resources (all campuses) by non-university third-party entities. While this restriction has been lifted all requests for use must be submitted in writing to the Provost's Office, Regional Campus Director, Vice President for Research, or the President's Office at least two weeks in advance and must clearly define the justification for use to be considered for approval.
